Investment Objective

The fund aims to protect capital by investing in bonds and offering a higher return than a euro money market investment. The recommended investment horizon is short term.

The great majority of investments are in euro-denominated issues. Ancillary investments may be made in currencies other than the euro, provided the exchange risk is hedged.

In practice, the fund manager concentrates the investments in euro-denominated bonds from high quality issuers. His preference is for issues designed to finance projects with proven benefits in terms of sustainable development (impact bonds).

A minimum of 30% of the fund's assets will be invested in sustainable assets.

Key Facts

- Focus on the sustainable development objectives of the selected impact bonds;
- Portfolio composed mainly of quality bonds denominated in euros;
- Investments in issuers with stable or improving credit quality;
- Added value through active management of duration, including the use of futures;
- Particular attention paid to reducing downside risk.

In the last quarter of 2024, eurozone government bond yields rose despite two interest rate cuts by the European Central Bank (ECB). The yield on the Germany 10-year bond climbed from 2.1% to 2.4%, with a more marked increase for longer maturities, signalling a return of inflation. At the end of 2024, inflation in Europe remained persistent and above the ECB's 2% target. Growth was fragile. France, the EU's second-largest economy, is facing political instability and a high deficit. The Macron-Barnier government, a minority coalition supported by the far right, had difficulty passing the 2025 budget, causing a crisis on the government bond markets. Reflecting investor concerns, yield spreads between French and German government bonds reached levels not seen since the eurozone crisis in 2012.

The ECB responded to weaker growth by cutting interest rates twice in the fourth quarter, taking the number of rate cuts in 2024 to four, and setting the deposit rate at 3% in December. Lending conditions remained restrictive in the short term, weighing on economic growth throughout the eurozone. The outlook for 2025 is mixed. The political and fiscal situation in France looks particularly precarious, hampering its economy's potential for growth. Spain's good performance is expected to tail off a little. Italy needs to strike a balance between debt reduction and economic growth. In Germany, caution is still warranted as growth will depend on external demand and the direction of the country's economic policy. The overall economic situation in the eurozone is dependent on numerous national and international challenges, not least US trade policy, armed conflicts in Ukraine and the Middle East, etc.
